ow has before it it the following case: The United States defendant in error, Leroy M. Wiley. It involves the question, does the President's pardon remit the sentence of forfeiture of rebel property, and reinstate the rebel in all his rights thereto? This was a motion of L. M. Wiley, defendant in error, and appeals to dismiss writ of error on appeal of United States, on the ground that the President's parden, and acceptance and ompliance with the terms thereof by defendant, discharged and remitted the forfeiture for which sentence of condemnation was pronoun ced in the District Court by pardoning the acts by which alone, if at all, the forfeiture was incurred. The case originated in an in ormation filed in the District Court of the United States for the Southern District thereof, and one Charles Gould named as the informer, under acts of Congress of 1861 and 1862 .commonly known as the Confiscation Acts, for confiscation and forfeiture of 1756 shares capital stock of Great Western Railroad Co. of 1857, and of upwards of fifty thousand dellars due of coupo of bonds of the same corporation, the property of defendant, on the two-fol ground alleged in the information; first, of alleged use of property by Mr. Wiley in aid of rebellion, under the act of 1861, and second, alleged treasonable acts of Mr. Wi ley under the act of 1862. The motion to smiss the case was announced by Mr Larogue, in its support. It was understood that the constitutionality of the act of Con gress prescribing the test oath is now before the Supreme Court, on the application of A. H. Garland, of Ark. The whole ques tion will be presented on Friday next.
